FRANK DIETRICH, Rec. Sec.

NOTWITHSTANDING the announcement in the papers that the flag of old Erin would float from the City Hall tower in Louisville on St. Patrick's Day, only the Stars and Stripes unfurled to the wind.

DURING the past seven days there were 264 business failures throughout the United States under Cleveland "good times," as compared with 190 the corresponding week of last year under Republican rule.

THE Governor vetoed the twelve-mile turnpike bill, introduced by Mr. Lyons of Newport. He holds it unconstitutional on the ground that it is local legislation. The effect of the bill was to do away with a toll bridge.

THE children are requested to meet at Mitchell's Chapel next Wednesday afternoon at 8:30 to practice for Easter services. Prayer-meeting tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock. Prepared talk by one of the members. There were three additions to the church yesterday.

THE LEDGER will on Saturday publish a grand eight-page special Easter number with a beautiful golden cover. In all THE LEDGER will be a most handsome paper. Merchants should place their advertisements in time to get a good space. You can order any day this week your space for Saturday's grand paper.

THE bill appropriating $20,000 for the enlargement and extension of the walls of the Frankfort Penitentiary has been vetoed by the Governor. The reason assigned is that the Legislature has already made an unusually large appropriation for other purposes, and this enlargement and extension was not considered necessary.

Don't forget the display of Easter Bonnets, Hats and novelties by Mrs. L. V. Davis Thursday.

THE Court of Appeals has ordered a new trial in the case of George Delaney, sentenced to imprisonment for life for complicity in the sensational assassination of Abbie Oliver Delaney in Union county.

IN Louisville two pioneer dry goods merchant prices died the same day. They were John Allen Carter and John M. Robinson. Both were wealthy, and their houses stand without a peer in the South. Mr. Carter was 72 and Mr. Robinson 70.

THE Louisville dry-goods firm of Seashols & Co. will retire from business. The firm was organized seven years ago. It must be that these prosperous Democratic times induced this move, for The C. J. itemizer says "the immediate future falls to offer any encouragement which the firm think warrants a continuance of their venture."

STRICKEN SUDDENLY.

Dr. C. W. Wardle the Well Known Dentist Dies of Paralysis.

The announcement shortly after noon yesterday that Dr. C. W. Wardle had suffered a stroke of paralysis caused the profoundest grief as the report spread throughout the city.

For a long time subject to severe headaches, his complaints in that direction caused no alarm to his family; and while seated at the dinner table yesterday his remark that he felt a pain in his head was scarcely noticed.

A moment later, however, his left eye drooped, he complained of being ill and started to arise from his seat.

Mrs. Wardle went to his assistance, and as he arose his left arm was affected and before he could be gotten to bed the entire side was paralyzed.

Medical aid was summoned, and as soon as Dr. Phillips reached the patient he at once realized that he had a most serious case. He requested a neighbor to go for other physicians, and in a short time Drs. Adamson, Browning, Reed and Yazell were in attendance.

These gentlemen did all that was possible to be done, but at 5 o'clock the patient had a second stroke.

After the first shock he was unable to speak, although for a short time he recognized members of the family as evidenced by signs. After the second shock he became totally unconscious, and remained in that condition up to the time of his death, which occurred at 5:35 this morning.

Dr. Wardle was a native of Covington, a son of the late Dr. Samuel Wardle of Cincinnati, but had been a resident of Maysville for the past twelve years.

He would have been 41 years old on the 9th of next August.

His wife, who was Miss Belle Wallingford, is a daughter of W. H. Wallingford, and there is an interesting family of three children—two boys and a girl.

THE Doctor was Past Master of Mason Lodge No. 342, F. A. M.; Past Grand of DeKalb Lodge No. 12, and Past Chief Patriarch of Pisgah Encampment No. 9, I. O. O. F.; a member of Washington Camp No. 3, P. O. S. A., Limestone Lodge No. 36, K. of P., of the A. O. U. W., of the Amazon Fire Company, and an ex member of the Board of Council.

His was one of the most congenial dispositions, and his companionship one of the most delightful the writer ever enjoyed.

His friends were legion.

Enemies he had none.

THE funeral will be under the auspices of the Oddfellows, but will not take place before Wednesday or Thursday, awaiting the arrival of his mother and sister, who reside at Hartwell, O.

If you have friends visiting you, or if you are going away on a visit, please drop us a note to that effect.

A SPECIAL stock train consisting of twenty-one cars of cattle from Chicago consigned to Germany passed through on the C. and O. a few nights ago.

RICHARD FOWLER, aged 20, a Lexington street car conductor, attempted suicide by shooting himself in the groin. His sweetheart sent him word she was going to marry another man.

HOUSE-CLEANING has broken out early this year and the husband is all smiles. He gets them down town where smiles are kept in bottles. At least that's what Sam Stairs says, and Sam generally knows.

THE LEDGER man has been reveling in the good things—in his mind—that Harvey Parker spread out at the Hotel Adelphi, Huntington, when Osiris Temple, A. A. O. N. M. S. S., banqueted there. It was very thoughtful of you, Bro. Harvey, to send us the elaborate program—

After the feed was over, After the eat was done.

THE unsettled state of business affairs and the unpromising outlook for a healthy revival of trade in the near future, are the reasons why seven employees of the Limestone Cigar Factory are without work this morning. One or two other local factories are running on short time—more to give their employees a living than because the goods are needed.

IT All Wound Up in Smoke.

At a recent dinner a discussion regarding the merits of a certain well known brand of cigars resulted in a unanimous decision in favor of the "El Principe de Gales" clear Havana. The reputation of this famous cigar has stood the test of time, while its enormous sales attest its value as the smokers' delight. Insist upon your dealer keeping the "El Principe de Gales" Londres 10 cent straight or order direct of The Joseph R. Peebles Sons Co., Wholesale Importers, Cincinnati, O.

A Few Spring Don'ts.

Bourbon News.—Don't believe there's any permanent relief in alcohol for "that tired feeling."

Don't slip your overcoat too soon.

Don't believe that loose habits are an antidote to tight money.

Don't talk economy to your wife and fail to practice it yourself.

Don't believe you can pick the winning horses this year simply because the ring beat you last season.

Don't think that the baseball cranks are all dead—it's their next turn at the bat.

Don't think the ladies will not have new hats for Easter because the times have been hard. They will be at church that day—and with new millinery, too.

"Don't you see me on Market street this afternoon? I saw you twice." That is what a society young man asked his Easter girl. And this is how she answered him: "I never notice people in that condition." Then the thermometer went down to Cairo.

Hits Him Hard.

Louisville Times.—The rumor of a marriage between Colonel Breckinridge and Mrs. Wing prior to the one consummated in this city last July has been verified by production of the certificate, which shows that Rev. Paxton made the twain one flesh in New York City on the 29th of last April. The plaintiff in the case is on the stand today, but it is hardly possible that she can show up the defendant in any worse light than already beats upon his whitened head and blackened character. Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde can now retire into the background of mediocrity.

Couldn't Pull Together.

The following characteristic message was found in a bottle by a gentleman out skiff riding last Friday afternoon.

As per the request contained therein it was returned to the writer:

MOHAWTOWN, WEST VA., Jan. 10th. Goodbye, old bottle, for you and I together cannot pull, for you are full when I am dry and dry when I am full.

If found please return to 110 Water street, Pittsburgh, to decide a bet. WM. TRUE.

MILD REBUKE.

You Can't Always Almost Tell From a Man's Looks.

In a small New England village there lives a man named Jenkins Sanderson, whose enormous, ungainly figure and forbidding expression of countenance seem to belie his real gentleness and good nature and make him an object of distrust and sometimes even of horror to strangers. His wife is a thin, prim old lady, the embodiment of neatness, and exceedingly quiet in her manners.

She was taking tea one summer afternoon with a neighbor who had a new "summer boarder," a lady of hysterical tendencies.

As the guests were seated round the table, the summer boarder chanced to look out the window and saw Jenkins Sanderson approaching the house with a message for his wife. It was the summer boarder's first sight of him.

"Oh, mercy on us!" she exclaimed, in shrill dismay, dropping her teacup with a clatter; "just see! Who's that awful looking man coming up the path? He has frightened me almost out of my wits!"

The embarrassment of the other guests was painful for a moment, but no longer. Mrs. Sanderson gazed calmly out of the window, and then turned her mild glance upon the hysterical boarder.

"Why, ma'am," she said tranquilly, "that is my good husband. He is an awful looking man, but God made him."

WHEN THE FACTORIES RESUMED.

'Twas a feather for the Demmes when the factory whistles blow.

And the idlers of the country had some work again to do:

For six months the wheels were idle, and labor stood around.

While the Wilson Bill was striking all our factories to the ground!

How they chew o'er this morsel—everything they've had to cheer.

In industry's night of terror, during all the last dark year!

Yes, they say the works are "booming," but they say not how they boomed;

For they didn't pay old wages

When the factories resumed!

Oh, it's altogether lovely now to laugh at want and woe,

And hug this ray of sunshine, and say, "I told you so!"

But how about the toilers, who agreed to work for less,

To keep their wives and children from want and dire distress?

From McKinley Bill and tinplate works, it changed at one fell swoop,

To Wilson Bill, and with it came the "Factories of Soup!"

Through workmen's necessity has this one ray illumed,

But the price was much less wages

When the factories resumed!

'Tis true the wheels are turning, and many fires glow,

In this life or death struggle 'gainst the paralyzing blow

That Grover and "his Congress" dealt the honest workmen,

Who are working at less wages just to get a job again!

Every smoking fiery furnace represents a sacrifice

On the part of honest labor, which has paid an awful price

For the privilege of working, and the Democrats were doomed

By the wages paid to labor

When the factories resumed!
